

Armstrong County Health Center has talent!

Written by The Office of the Commissioners
Wednesday, 10 June 2009 12:41

When looking for America's most talented there is no need to look further than the Armstrong County Health Center! Residents at the Armstrong County Health Center recently enjoyed a talent show in honor of National Nursing Home Week. Among the talent displayed residents Vincent Heinauer and Evelyn Hankey both sang songs. Kim Elwood had her comedy debut by telling a joke. Independent Living Suite Tenant Eleanor Linkes sang "God Bless America". Representing the Snack Bar and Volunteers were Blaine & Betty Blattenberger who kept up the comedy by telling jokes. Topping off the laughter was Kathy Guth, the Activities Coordinator with her stand up comedy.

The whole room joined in as Beth Costanzo, Director of Nursing, Karen Polka, Registered Nurse, and Janet McKinley, Financial Director, led the group in song. Following the lead of Ms. Costanzo's guitar playing, Phyllis Wallace, Magie Blystone and Louise Marranconi, all Health Center Residents and Winnie Weaver of the Independent Living Suites each took a turn at the microphone for small solo parts. The talent show was enjoyed by all who attended. It was a great chance to relax and showcase the talents of the residents, Health Center Employees and Volunteers.