Zero Tolerance

The Armstrong County Jail has zero tolerance towards all forms of sexual abuse and sexual harassment

The Armstrong County Jail prohibits any form of sexual harassment or sexual abuse with an inmate. Anyone who engages in, fails to report, or knowingly condones sexual harassment or sexual abuse with an inmate shall be subject to disciplinary action and may be subject to criminal prosecution. An inmate, employee, contractor, visitor, volunteer or any individual who has business with or uses the resources of the Armstrong County Jail is subject to disciplinary action and/or sanctions, including possible dismissal and termination of contracts and/or services if found to have engaged in sexual harassment or sexual abuse with an inmate. An inmate or staff member who reports sexual harassment or sexual abuse with an inmate will be protected from retaliation.

- All complaints will be investigated.
- Any individual reporting abuse or harassment will be free from any type of retaliation.
